

Invitation for Expressions of Interest

Chief Executive Officer

BC School Trustees Association

Due to the pending retirement of the incumbent, the British Columbia School Trustees Association (BCSTA) invites leaders from K-12 public education system and other public agencies to express interest in the role of chief executive officer (CEO), BCSTA.

The CEO serves as executive director and senior administrator of the BCSTA and its board of directors. The CEO is responsible to the board for carrying out the association's objectives, implementing its policies, and providing leadership and oversight pertaining to the complex and multi-faceted organization and operation of the association.

In this position, based at our Vancouver office, the successful candidate will work with BCSTA's board of directors in leading an organization that is central to the development of local and provincial policy and direction in a rapidly transforming public education sector. As a key leader in one of the world's highest performing education jurisdictions, the CEO will ensure that learning and students continue to be our system's central focus. The CEO will provide support and advice at local and provincial levels to develop policies and practices on the wide range of matters that impact the quality of B.C.'s education system today and into the future.

Interested candidates who possess a strong leadership background, a track record of successful collaboration and positive outcomes in the K-12 system and/or other public sector organizations are invited to submit an initial confidential expression of interest to cbatista@bcsta.org

The salary range for this position is $205,000 - $220,000 along with a comprehensive benefits plan.

Initial submissions are requested by July 31, 2024.
